Scianna balks at beer in park

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials heard plans Tuesday for a new series of Concerts in the Park -- but one City Council member hopes to squelch the serving of spirits during the events.

Council President Charles Scianna said he had a big problem with the concept of beer sales on city property. The events at City Hall Park, he said, should be family-oriented and alcohol-free.

If beer is required to draw a crowd, Scianna said he'd rather cancel the concert concept.

Bob Travers said he personally agreed with Scianna. But beer sales account for most of the money that the events take in, said Travers, head of the Bay Development Foundation which stages the concerts for the city.

Travers said that without beer sales the events would be nowhere near a break-even point financially.

Scianna said he'd rather see the city pay a little more to subsidize the events and keep beer out of the park. Those who want to drink, he said, should wait until after the concert.

Those thoughts, said council member Thomas Farve, represented only Scianna's opinion.

"I don't see how crawfish and shrimp are going to taste good if you don't have beer," said Farve. "He's speaking for himself," Farve said of Scianna.

That issue had hardly died down when another popped up. Travers said the first concert probably will be scheduled for April 15, the Saturday before Easter.

It shouldn't be held then, said Scianna, because Bay St. Louis is a predominately Catholic

Time changes possible at Bay-Wave schools

BY RICHARD MEEK

Students in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland school district may be changing starting times in the fall if the board elects to privatize its transportation system.

The board considered a laundry list of options for privatization from Laidlaw, Inc., at a special meeting on March 20. Laidlaw was the only company to submit bids to the board, which is considering privatization. Currently, the board operates 19 active busses at an approximate annual cost of $375,000, not including added expenses for extracurricular activities.

Laidlaw, which provides transportation to the Gulfport school system, presented two options, both of which were soon modified by company representative Marshall Culpepper. The first calls for a three-tier bus schedule at an annual cost of $395,000.

If the board opts for that plan, school hours would have to be altered. The change would be the second in as many years.

The second option, which calls for maintaining the current two-tier structure, has an annual pricetag of $420,000.

Laidlaw's bids also tacked on charges for busing students to extracurricular activities, such as athletic events and field trips. Transportation Supervisor Billy Rhodes reported that the additional costs, based on trips from the 1993-94 school year, would total nearly $28,000.

Culpepper then modified the bids, saying the company would absorb the first $20,000 of the extracurricular costs. He also presented an option of lowering the two bids to $375,000 or $400,000, with the board paying all of the extracurricular costs.

Laidlaw also presented a proposal to buy the school system's current fleet of busses, although board attorney Lucien Gex said the board must "comply with state laws" to sell the fleet. The law calls for the board to advertise the busses, and if no other districts are interested, then the Laidlaw proposal could be accepted, Gex said.

Superintendent Paul Tisdale said the board would continue to monitor the drivers and make decision on cancellation of school due to inclement weather.

Bay capital outlay plan up for discussion

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council was given an extensive roster of capital improvement projects Tuesday, as members vowed to get moving on completion of a 25-year development plan.

Council set a workshop for 7 p.m. on March 29 to discuss the capital improvements list and the document from which it stems: a consultant's draft of proposals to guide development and upgrade area transportation and public facilities.

The workshop will be a "wide open" discussion of the plan, said Council President Charles Scianna, but comments won't be taken from the audience. Those comments should be offered at a public hearing council will set later on the plan, Scianna said.

Council member James Thriflley suggested that citizens who have comments on the proposal at this point should pass those comments along to individual members of City Council.

Next Wednesday's session will be the first meeting of council to go over the consultant's draft plan since it was offered late last year.

Mayor Eddie Favre urged council members to devote at least part of the upcoming session on the capital improvements portion of the plan. The consultant, Continental Consultants, has been waiting for months to get council's response to the plan's proposal for building new roads and buildings.

Those proposals include a new, expanded City Hall, expansion or relocating the city maintenance and service building, building a new fire training tower and buying new fire trucks.

Other proposals call for expanding or relocating the Police Department and building a juvenile detention facility, perhaps in conjunction with Hancock County.

The consultants also are calling for a new recreation complex, a public swimming pool and new beachfront facilities. Sewer, water and gas lines also need to be extended, the consultants said.

But the costliest items in the plan concern transportation: building new streets and upgrading existing routes.

To implement the plan, the city would have to acquire extensive rights-of-way for new streets and roadways.

Pilgrimage begins today in Hancock

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs presents its 48th Annual Spring Pilgrimage of homes, gardens and historical landmarks today.

The John C. Stennis Space Center and Hancock County Welcome Center open the pilgrimage season in Hancock County.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club members will be hostesses at the Hancock Welcome Center. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The garden club members of Diamondhead will be hostesses at the John C. Stennis Space Center. Hours at Stennis are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

School districts differ

BY JIMMIE BREWER

The temperature inside the tiny Hancock County School District boardroom was heated Monday night when board members learned that the Bay-Waveland School Board had scheduled its 1996 graduation date on the same day as the county.

The board wants the Bay-Waveland School District to hold its graduation on a different evening so residents of the community, many of whom know students of both districts, can attend both graduations.

"I can't understand how we can let a school district with a 1,000 less kids control our destiny. Let them change their calendar," said school board member Larry Peterson.

"We can't let them every year tell us what to do," Peterson continued.

County School Board President Cheryl Bennett said she had been getting "negative vibes" from the Bay-Waveland School Board and wanted to discuss the calendar with Bay-Waveland Superintendent Paul Tisdale.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Pretty, personable and very interested in serving people, Ha Vu was undoubtedly eyed by a number of young Vietnamese men as a good prospect for their wife and the mother of their children. Instead, Ha has aspirations of becoming a nun.

Cuong Vu, Ha's brother, was likewise attractive, congenial and deeply interested in serving people. The Vietnamese girls no doubt had dreams about being his partner for life. Cuong, however, had hopes of joining the Divine Word Missionaries.

As the siblings characteristically bowed their heads in prayer, a deadly rain of bullets put a gruesome and untimely end to all the beauty and wonder of their ideals and lives.

While the fatal shot were being fired, Ha's and Vu's siblings, Chau and Quoc, listened in horror from their hiding places where they had taken refuge to save their own lives, thus witnessing a crime perhaps otherwise unsolvable.

Whether the accused policewoman is the culprit or not, the first thought is unavoidable: someone was tampering directly with God's plan for the kingdom. Some was evil and mindless enough to waste workers from God's vineyard.

Adding to the raw horror of the story, on-duty police officer Ronald Williams II, devoted husband with a 5-year-old and a 1-week-old son, was also killed with the Vu siblings at Kim Anh, an Oriental-American restaurant in New Orleans East.

Bone-chilling terror has settled upon many New Orleanians, while all are stricken with anger and frustration at their feeling of utter powerlessness in the face of the spiraling, nerve-bending orgy of homicides and assorted violence.

Crackling airwaves have rivaled ink spilled in newsprint over the horror, the unfeeling cruelty, the immorality, the mindlessness and the urgent need for short-term solutions to be followed by some long-term plan of action.

No one quarrels with the long-term need for radical changes in the home, supposedly the cradle of all instruction to respect, and of admonition against violence and injustice. Where necessary, structured programs must help parents.

It is the short-term solutions, it is the now urgency, which overwhelms us all. Something must be done yesterday.

Predation almost has to be our first target of attack. No authorities speak about our urban predators without admitting that they are a distinct minority. Since that is so, remove them from society. If need be, make laws to accomplish it.

Many, maybe most, are juveniles, you say? And we should not touch juveniles, not even call them by name? Problem is, the juveniles are touching us with and without lead, and with the deadliest of consequences. Make laws, if necessary.

Yes, if juveniles are predators, they, too, must be removed from society. We concede only that hardened criminals are not to be mixed with predators who are not beyond hope.

Once the predators are removed, we can begin the serious task of working one-on-one with the majority of our youth who are good and with the adults who must mentor them.

Space prevents addressing at length the roots of violence: the violent gun cult of this country reflected in our taste for melodramatic violence on TV, and in cinemas, gangsta rap and the other rap catering to the profane, obscene, immoral.

Deja vu is more than a play on words. God bless the Vus.

Seniors question building plans

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A Bay St. Louis city plan to move senior citizens' programs into a refurbished building met with skepticism Monday.

A public hearing on the idea drew some 25 senior citizens to City Hall annex, many of whom fired off questions concerning the adequacy of the proposed new facility and the cost of the project.

Others were concerned about how long the project would take, and whether they'd end up in a worse facility than the city currently offers.

As it stands, the city provides some 3,800 square feet of meeting, dining and classroom space to senior citizens in the former elementary school behind the fire and police departments on Old Spanish Trail. In addition, the city offers the RSVP program rooms in the old City Hall on Second Street.

But city officials want to consolidate its Public Works offices in former classrooms, and make room to hold Municipal Court there as well. They'd also like to renovate City Hall, and use at least part of it as a tourism/comfort center.

Twice in the past year, City Council has been beset by complaints from senior citizens concerning conditions in the facility behind the Police Department -- the roof is in such bad shape that ceiling tiles routinely crash to the floor, and the drainage is so poor that the parking lot and hallways flood easily.

Still, the idea of the city buying a former rest home on Dunbar Street and converting it to a senior citizen complex didn't muster much enthusiasm in the public hearing.

Some expressed concern that parking in the new facility would be less adequate than the cramped parking area now available to the seniors. One woman expressed alarm at having to negotiate Highway 90 traffic to reach the proposed facility.

Monday's hearing was conducted by Jeff Loftus of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, which is expected to file an application for federal Community Development Block Grant funds for the project.

Loftus said the proposed facility would be completely renovated, to provide almost twice as much space as the seniors now occupy in the old school. He said rooms in the proposed facility could be reshaped to meet the needs of the seniors, and parking would be reconfigured.

They also stressed the city's need to take over the area now used by seniors for Public Works and court facilities.

Federal law mandates that court facilities be accessible by handicapped citizens -- a criteria that the existing county courthouse fails to meet. The city uses the county courthouse now for municipal court.

A second public hearing on the matter is set for March 27, at 5:30 p.m. at City Hall Annex on Court Street. Officials promised they would present further details of the proposal at that

Teen sustains head injuries in accident

A 14-year-old Bay St. Louis boy sustained head injuries when he rode his bike into the path of a mail truck on Monday afternoon.

Hosie Parker was brought to Hancock Medical Center following the incident, which occurred at the intersection of Boushlog and Victoria streets in Bay St. Louis. He was transferred to Memorial Hospital in Gulfport Monday night. As of Wednesday, Parker was in Intensive Care in stable but guarded condition, according to a hospital spokesman.

According to investigating officer Lt. Dave Seller of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, Parker was riding his bike westbound on Boushlog when he rode through the intersection of Victoria and struck a mail truck heading north on Victoria. The truck was driven by James Clark of Bay St. Louis.

Lt. Seller said no charges were filed.

CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Don't forget the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's After Hours tonight from 5 to 7 at the Hancock Women's Center, Benigno Lane, across from Hancock Medical Center.

The doctors have a very nice, brand-new facility to which they moved just last week.

Both Dimitri Yanez, M.D. and Keith Goodfellow, M.D., obstetricians-gynecologists are real proud of their new clinic.

There will be refreshments, and the After Hours is for chamber members and guests. There will also be some door prizes, so bring your business cards so you can drop one in the box.

I hope to see you at the After Hours tonight.

The good weather is great, and I am real happy to see the City of Bay St. Louis crews able to get back on the repairs of the Hancock County Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center.

So many of our residents use the walking track. It is in use any hour of the day or night.

I am sure when the overlay is completed it will have more walking traffic.

It is my understanding Hancock County is assisting with some of the funding for the project, so this is really a joint effort.

I am doing my best to get to the track more since the weather is beginning to clear, and I hope to be back at an every-day use real soon.

Walking just seems to do wonders for me.

It is Spring Pilgrimage time for the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Activities begin today at the Stennis Space Center and at the Mississippi Welcome Centers on Interstate 10.

Pass Christian's pilgrimage is tomorrow, Diamondhead's next Wednesday and Bay-Waveland's next Thursday.

It is surprising what our welcome center and Stennis Space Center have to offer to visitors to our area.

The Hancock County Welcome Center has been called, "the most beautiful welcome center in the U.S.A." It is a copy of an Antebellum home and has been open since 1979.

Our Bay-Waveland Garden Club members will be hostesses at the Hancock Welcome Center. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The garden club members of Diamondhead will be hostesses at the John C. Stennis Space Center. Hours at Stennis are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Space Center offers a glimpse of the area's rich history and takes us forward to envision tantalizing ideas and vistas of a not too distant future as offered by science and technology.

Pass Christian's pilgrimage tomorrow is from 1 to 4 p.m.

There are six homes on the pilgrimage Friday in Pass Christian. Maps and brochures are available at the Wicker N' Wood, 254 East Beach Blvd.

The Pass Christian homes and hours are from 1 to 4 p.m., and they are, — Mr. and Mrs. Bart A. Danielson, 221 Baywood Drive; — Mr. and Mrs. Gene Collum, 215 Baywood Drive; — Artist Georgia Kuhner, 22540 Fox Run Drive - Byrnewood; — Ken and Jo Johns, 5074 Mengen Ave.; and — Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Hunter, 7406 Lazy Acres Way.

Hospitality Tea will be served from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Danielson, 849 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian.

The pilgrimage is a time when we have visitors from across the state and adjoining states.

This is also a very good opportunity for us to take advantage of visiting many of the homes along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The balance of the schedules: Oceans Springs, Mar. 25; Gautier, Moss Point and Pascagoula, Mar. 26; Beauvoir, Tullis Toledano Mansion, Walter Anderson Museum and Old Spanish Fort, Mar. 27; Long Beach, Mar. 28; Gulfport Mar. 31, and Biloxi, April 1.

I hope to see you at the Annual Spring Pilgrimage sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

I spoke to Nancy Gallagher, the Waveland Animal Shelter director on Tuesday, and she reported she had 40 persons waiting to adopt pets because of the page 1 story in Sunday's Echo.

Gallagher was truly elated over the response and ended up taking names of persons seeking to adopt a pet.

It is always great to hear so many are concerned about our animals.

Gallagher did indicate she had several spayed and neutered adult cats that are awaiting adoption.

Spaying and neutering of animals is very important as it helps control the population.

I am glad the response was good for the Waveland Animal Shelter.

By the way, Waveland Mayor John Mason and the Hancock County Humane Society helped with the special animal adoption.

Please, if you have a pet missing, call the Waveland Animal Shelter at 467-0230. I have been told there are some folks who wait too long to call the animal shelter.

The Waveland Animal Shelter is located at 322 Gulfside Drive next to Waveland Fire Station No. 2.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Principal praises students' achievement test scores

Dear Editor:

During October of the current school year all students in Mississippi enrolled in grades 4-8 were administered the Iowa Test Of Basic Skills. They were tested in reading, language and math using traditional testing methods.

They were also given performance tests in integrated language arts and in mathematics. Performance tests evaluate the processes students use to apply prior knowledge to solve problems.

We are very proud of our junior high school students achievement test scores. On the total battery of tests, seventh grade students scored above the state average and at the national average, which is the 50th percentile.

Grade eight students also scored above the state average and at the 49th percentile nationally. These total battery scores are the highest scores in the district.

One of the reasons we test is to provide parents and students with information about students' achievement. We are pleased to furnish you with a copy of your child's test results. Scores are printed on both sides.

of the report.

Scores for the student achievement profile of the survey battery are printed on one side of the report and the performance profile is on the other side.

A brief explanation of the test results is printed on the lower section of each report.

To assist you in understanding this report we will conduct two test interpretation workshops for parents. Both will be the same and should be about an hour in length. We hope you will be able to attend one of the sessions.

The first workshop will be on Tuesday, March 28 at 7 p.m. in the auditorium. The second one will be on Thursday, March 30, also at 7 p.m. in the auditorium.

We can plan more effectively if you would register for the sessions by calling the school office at 466-4916. You are welcome to attend even if you do not get a chance to call.

If you have questions about the test results, please call the guidance office at 467-5297.

Sincerely,
James D. Baldree, Principal

the state's General Fund are expected to amount to more than $2.6 million in the 1995-96 fiscal year, although the final count won't be known until House and Senate conferees complete their negotiations and the adjusted figures have been adopted by the two chambers.

The Joint Legislative Budget Committee agreed recently to boost its official General Fund revenue estimate by $65 million for the current year and another $65 million for the coming year, accepting recommendations made earlier by a team of financial experts and budget specialists.

The revised projections had been adopted previously by the Appropriations Committees in both chambers in crafting their proposals.

More than $151 million in General Fund money was approved for the Department of Corrections, an increase of $43.5 million over this year's budget, with the extra money to be used largely for additional prison employees and other costs related to new or expanded correctional facilities approved during the special legislative session last year.

The House voted to authorize $46 million from the General Fund for the Department of Public Safety; $89 million for payment of the state's bonded debt; $44 million for the state Tax Commission; and $15 million for repair and renovation of state-owned buildings. Final legislative approval was given to $69 million in homestead reimbursement payments.

The House approved $9 million in start-up funds for a tuition assistance grants program to help students attending Mississippi universities, colleges and community colleges, although the amount is short of an estimated $28 million needed to fully fund the program under earlier enabling legislation.

Another measure passed by the House would allocate $26 million from the General Fund to the Department of Economic and Community Development for the coming year, including $7.5 million for tourism, advertising and promotional purposes.

The bill included an additional $1.5 million to support a Russian arts exhibit, the Palaces of St. Petersburg, expected to be brought to Jackson in 1996.

A similar appropriation had been included in an earlier House bill but was removed and funds were inserted instead for

Bay Council tackles federal weed problem on lots in city

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council declared a property owned by the Farmers Home Administration a public menace Tuesday, and will seek bids to have it cleaned up.

In addition, council agreed to write the FmHA and ask that agency to expedite sales of such properties in the city.

The action, concerning a vacant house on Union Street off Old Spanish Trail, came in a split vote among council members. Council President Charles Scianna said the property simply is overgrown with weeds, and the house is located next to a forested lot.

Other council members, however, said the lot poses a public health danger in its overgrown state, amounting to a nesting ground for rats and snakes.

Besides, it's an eyesore, officials agreed, noting that other homeowners in the area have made an effort to improve their properties.

FmHA officials were not present at Tuesday's hearing on the property. They had previously notified the city, however, that they didn't have a contractor available to clean the lot and it would remain in its present condition until sold.

Council member James Thriffiley blasted the FmHA for allowing a perfectly good house to "rot," sit vacant and be subject to vandalism. The federal agency should push to use such housing for families desperately wanting to become homeowners, he said.

In other business Tuesday, council:

-Agreed to join the National League of Cities, a network of municipalities similar to the statewide Mississippi Municipal Association.

Although membership in the national group costs only $671, there were objections among council members to joining.

Two men arrested in Lower Bay fires

BY RICHARD MEEK

Two Lakeshore men were charged with arson in connection with four forest fires that occurred on March 9.

Charged with four counts of arson were Roy Ladner, 19, of Sportsman Lake Road and Coburn Ladner, 32, of Lower Bay Road, according to County Forester Mark Jamieson.

The fires occurred along Old Lower Bay Road on International Bay Company forestlands.

Jamieson said witnesses came forward and identified the suspects. Jamieson's office and Hancock County Sheriff Investigator Nathan Hoda participated in the investigation.

If convicted, the suspects face up to eight years in jail and fines up to $4,000.

Jamieson said the investigation into 14 arson fires along Bayou LaCroix are continuing. Jamieson said the "same person or group of people" have set 14 fires in the area, causing severe damage to nearly 240 acres.

He said anyone with information on these or any other fires should call 255-7152 or 255-4885.

employed by the district would become Laidlaw employees after certification tests and background checks are completed, Culpepper said. He added the drivers would receive a slight increase in salary.

For the drivers, however, some of whom are employed elsewhere in the system, the change would mean the loss of state benefits and retirement. A decision was tabled and the issue will be discussed at a special meeting on March 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the school board office.

"We do appreciate the job all of the drivers do," Tisdale said.

In other matters, Frank Perinario was sworn in as the newest board member. He defeated board president James Wilcox in an election March 18. Board member Linda Penrose will serve as the new president.

The board also discussed a proposed five-year plan for educational improvement. The proposal was written by a 17-member committee and included input from all of the district's schools.

Although no action was taken, Tisdale called the plan a "blueprint of what we want to accomplish."

Further discussion of the plan will be held at the March 27 meeting.

Scianna said the biggest expense of the membership is the cost of attending the national annual conventions. Mayor Eddie Favre said the conventions are held at various locations throughout the country and represent but one benefit of membership.

Council member Thomas Favre told Scianna just because the association hosts conventions doesn't mean that everyone has to attend them. Scianna and council member James Thriffiley voted against joining the group.

In other matters, council:

-Agreed to ask for a state attorney general's opinion concerning the costs associated with abandoning city property. Council member Tad Black said a pending proposal to abandon an unopened portion of Leopold Street, between Laurie Street and Dunbar Avenue, could cost the city several thousand dollars in legal fees for property title searches.

Black's suggesting the city recover its costs from the property owners who will benefit from the abandonment — those who about the abandoned property gain ownership.

City Attorney John Scafide said he's not sure the city can require the property owners to pay for costs of the title searches, but may be able to impose a fee for applying to have the city abandon property. At the request of Scianna, Scafide also will seek an opinion on what rights, if any, property owners on the adjoining, paved section of a street have when the "Having graduation dates on different evenings benefits the entire community," said Bennett.

Other differences in the 1995-96 calendar adopted by the Bay-Waveland board and the tentative schedule for the county include next year's spring break. Bay-Waveland schools will have their spring break next year from April 1-5. Hancock County schools have tentatively scheduled their break for April 8-12.

This could possibly affect some 40 students who are from the Bay-Waveland district, but currently use the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center.

Tisdale said there was still time for the board to amend its schedule and agreed they should do what was right for the students and the community.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 3.

town. "Easter Saturday night is a big religious feast," said Scianna, with ceremonies that last three to four hours.

Travers said the idea of the pre-Easter concert had been the topic of prolonged discussion among Development Foundation officials.

Travers said he would relay the councilman's comments to foundation officials for consideration.

Council allocated $1,500 to cover any deficits that the concerts amass, although Travers said last year's series were so popular that officials are hoping the events will generate a profit this year.

unopened portion is to be abandoned.

-Endorsed a local and private bill that would enable the city to donate up to $10,000 to the Gulf Coast Women's Center. The organization is trying to raise money to build a new facility for battered women and rape victims.

-Passed a resolution designating April as Child Abuse Awareness and Prevention Month.

Favre honored by legislature

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Brett Favre, Green Bay Packers quarterback, was honored by the Mississippi Legislature for his accomplishments in the state of Mississippi and for outside the state.

Favre, a Kiln native and former Hancock North Central star, played his college football in his home state at the University of Southern Mississippi.

He is the Golden Eagles' career passing leader with 7,695 yards and 52 touchdowns. He also holds numerous other single game, season, and career records at Southern Mississippi.

Favre praised the accomplishments of another in-state NFL hopeful, Steve "Air" McNair of Mt. Olive. McNair finished third in the Heisman trophy balloting this year and played at Alcorn State. He is the NCAA career leader in total offense and college football's most prolific passer. McNair is expected to go early in the first round of the NFL draft.

Favre has led the Packers to three winning seasons and two playoff berths since being traded to the Packers after his rookie season with the Atlanta Falcons in 1991. He played in the Pro Bowl in 1992 and 1993.

This past season, Favre passed for 3,882 yards and a team record 33 touchdowns opposed to 14 interceptions. He totals 10,412 yards and 70 TD's in three seasons with the Packers.

Favre urged the young players with the talent to make it on the next level to remain in the state of Mississippi and give back to their home state.

Anglican bishop attends Funeral Mass of slain priest

Anglican Bishop Montgomery Griffith-Mair, AB, rector of the Anglican Chapel of Archbishop Robert Leighton, attended the Funeral Mass March 22 of Father Karl M. Petersen in New Orleans at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

In an open letter issued Sunday in response to Father Petersen's murder, Bishop Griffith-Mair said, "And, Father Petersen isn't just the 90th murder victim in New Orleans this year, but rather he has become, if you will, a 'sacrificial lamb' of the mindless street crime and wanton violence that plagues this city each and every day."

"The greatest danger to the social stability of New Orleans is the fear that the tears of the people's sadness and agony and shame may turn to revenge and vigilanteism against real or imagined perpetrators of deadly crime in the not too distant future."

"Certainly such a danger exists if steps aren't quickly taken to prevent such outrages of the kind embodied in the cruel and cold slaughter, yes, slaughter, of good citizens like (Father) Karl Petersen."

Compounding the bishop's loss also stems from having first known Father Petersen in co-officiating at services for four previous murder victims. The painful irony is that Father

Petersen has become a murder victim, too.

Bay-Waveland Elks 2776

The Bay-Waveland Elks Lodge No. 2776 will install newly elected officers for 1995-96 in a ceremony to be held at the Coast Electric Power Company Sunday, March 26 at 3 p.m.

New officers for the Ladies Auxiliary will also be installed. They are Sue Woodruff, president; Charlotte Mauffray, vice-president; Dee Wendling, secretary; Roxanne Colson, treasurer; Pat Grantham, historian; and Lucia Perdue, parliamentarian.

Lenten rose deserves attention this season

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

An Associated Press note in a recent issue of my local paper mentioned a rose that bloomed in winter, the Christmas rose, Helleborus niger. The article caught my attention perhaps because it is the season of Lent and not Christmas or because I have Lenten rose, Helleborus orientalis, growing and blooming in my garden now.

For years I'd wanted to try growing Helleborus. A couple of years ago I was fortunate enough to receive about a dozen young plants as a gift from a fellow gardener. This is the second year my plants have bloomed, and they look a lot better and stronger than this time last year.

These plants take a while to establish — not weeks or months, but years. They don't like being dug up and moved, so they are not plants for the impatient gardener. All of my plants are in raised beds with lots of organic matter.

Lenten rose isn't in Bill Welch's book, "Perennial Garden Color" or the Bender/Rushing book "Passalong Plants." I hope this is only because of limited space and not because these authors consider the plant unworthy.

Lenten rose is in the 1990 "National Arboretum Book of Outstanding Garden Plants" with the statement, "Rated by some as one of the 10 best perennials."

The National Arboretum

in Mississippi Gardens

book also notes Lenten rose "blooms for a long period in late winter in mild areas and early spring in cool areas — large, nodding white to purple flowers and nearly evergreen foliage. Naturalizes easily. Plant root divisions in early spring in moist, humusy soil."

Lenten rose is as hardy in zones 3-8 which includes all of Mississippi.

The low growing, evergreen foliage is attractive, but it's the flowers that catch your eye. This year I'm seeing large flowers, more than 2 inches across, that resemble Clematis flowers. The flowers are only a few inches off the ground and have a tendency to nod (face down).

The White Flower Farm catalog describes Lenten rose as "one of the finest early-flowering plants known. The nodding, 4-inch flowers open in very early spring and persist for up to eight weeks.

They are quite variable in color and size, with shades running from white to deep dusky-rose. Given rich soil, shade, and reliable moisture in the heat, H. orientalis will prosper and self-sow, becoming a favorite in no time."

There is a dark side to Lenten rose. The "American Medical Association Handbook of Posonous and Injurious Plants," says the whole plant is poisonous if eaten. For me, this is not sufficient reason to avoid the plant, unless you refuse to have any poisonous plants in your yard.

Lenten rose is in the buttercup family, Ranunculaceae, with such popular garden plants as clematis, anemone, delphinium, columbine and peony. Clematis and anemone also are poisonous plants. Delphinium and several other members of the family are poisonous to livestock.

To grow Lenten rose, start with nursery-grown plants or divisions with planting in the spring, and select an area with shade in the summer and partial sun in the winter. Keep fertilizer away from the plant; don't let it dry out, and don't disturb it once planted. Some people consider Lenten rose the best Helleborus for the Southeast.

Check with your local nurseries on the availability of Lenten rose plants as a start. If you know of someone with an established planting, they might be willing to share some of their volunteer plants with you. While slow to become established, Lenten rose does self-seed.

Cochran announces new national wildlife project

Senator Thad Cochran announced that the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission has voted to add more than 2,600 acres of migratory bird and waterfowl habitat to the national wildlife refuge system.

Included in the commission's action was the addition of 40 acres to Mississippi's Tallahatchie National Wildlife Refuge in the North Delta region. The purpose of the refuge is to preserve bottomland hardwood habitat for migratory waterfowl.

"This action is one more positive step in enlarging the wildlife refuge lands in our state and others around the country. It is important that we protect these valuable regions for waterfowl," Cochran said.

The commission also approved ten North American Wetlands Conservation Fund projects for Mexico and the United States. These projects will enhance more than 28,000 acres in Central and North America.

The Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, created in 1934, approves the acquisition of migratory bird habitats recommended by the Secretary of Interior.

Commission membership includes to members of Congress, two U.S. Senators and representatives form the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Interior.

Drainage canal proposed for Hancock Heights

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Plans to resolve serious drainage problems in Hancock Heights subdivision, with construction of a new canal, were aired Monday.

Engineer James J. Chiniche offered the preliminary ideas to a workshop session of City Council, saying the project would cost over $150,000 to implement.

Officials have had Hancock Heights' drainage woes under consideration for several years, and under active study for six months.

As it stands, an existing drainage ditch through the subdivision is inadequate and, to some property owners' horror, is collapsing in places, taking land along with it. City Council hired Chiniche to study the problem and propose a solution.

His plan calls for building a new canal parallel to the old one. It would run from Dunbar Avenue to a spot where Casino Magic plans to build golf course lakes.

The existing canal would be reconfigured, Chiniche said, and some of its flow reversed to send it to the new canal.

The new canal, he said, would require about 50 feet of right-of-way along its 2,000-foot pathway. The canal itself would be about 20 feet wide, he said, and five to eight feet deep.

Drainage from the system would flow into two golf course lakes, connected by a massive culvert.

Chiniche said Casino Magic has tentatively agreed to the plans, if the city agrees to:

- Accept maintenance and liability responsibilities.

- Provide surveys and legal preparation of the required easement.

- Provide a screen or filter structure to keep debris from flowing into the lake.

- Provide erosion control measures for the new canal.

- Pay Brown & Mitchell engineering, on an hourly basis, to coordinate and review plans prepared by Chiniche which impact Casino Magic property.

- Pay Casino Magic for the some of the cost of installing a culvert between the lakes -- accepting the city's drainage flow means the culverts will have to be larger than originally planned by Casino Magic.

Monday's report was offered as information to City Council members, and no action was requested on the proposal.

Victor Lanza

Memories of Mario

Performing at the Diamondhead Country Club on April 2 will be famed Victor Lanza, tenor, accompanied by the Jefferson Symphony Orchestra, Dennis Assaf, conductor. You will not believe your eyes and ears when we present Victor Lanza, son of legendary tenor and screen idol, Mario Lanza. In this tribute to his father, Victor sings such unforgettable songs as "Because You're Mine" and "Be My Love". Joining Victor in the duets Mario made famous with Kathryn Grayson and Ann Blyth will be soprano, Nancy Assaf. "Memories Of Mario" - April 2 - an evening not soon equaled in Diamondhead. Show time - 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Victor Lanza has distinguished himself as a very dynamic performer throughout South America, Europe, and now the United States. He was born in Philadelphia but grew up in Argentina where he primarily spoke Spanish and Italian. This accounts for his delightful accent! Victor received a Bachelors degree from UCLA and during his college years, he appeared in several operas such as Aida, Tosca, La Boheme and Pagliacci. Victor then went to Brigham Young University to study communications and opera Workshop with Dr. Clint Robinson of Metropolitan Opera fame. He also studied with one of Italy's most famous singers, Claudio Vila. He has studied with Seth Riggs and is currently with Blanche Artis Lewis.

He is busily engaged throughout the United States singing with symphonies and touring with his own orchestra. He recently elicited rave reviews from his appearance with the Traverse City Symphony Orchestra in Michigan. In 1991, Victor had the honor of performing the inaugural concert for the new Italian Community Center in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. That same year he was invited to make his debut at the Festa Italiana, in Milwaukee, which is the largest Italian festival in the country. He has brought his show to Philadelphia and was heard by thousands at Italian National Day at Penn's Landing. His performances in January, 1993 with the Elgin Symphony were warmly received by critics and audiences alike. In March, 1993, he brought his show to the John Lyman Center for the Performing Arts in New Haven, Connecticut and made his second appearance at the Milwaukee Festa Italiana in July 1993.

"Memories Of Mario" is Victor's personal tribute to Mario Lanza and to the ardent fans who still regard the great tenor with affection. Through these performances, Victor hopes to revive the audience's desire for this lush music and to recreate that romantic era of song that was a hallmark of Mario Lanza. Victor's feelings for what he is singing makes it possible for him to effect unforgettable performances!

Tickets for the performance April 2 are $12.50 for adults and $3.50 for students. Tickets may be purchased at Diamondhead Discount Drugs or at the door on the evening of the performance.

With special guest Nancy Assaf

Scholarships offered for mini-camps

Teacher scholarships are available for two mini-camps offered this spring by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory and the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium.

The mini-camps are designed to give teachers information, teaching techniques, resource materials and classroom activities they can use to better teach their students, Walker said.

Scholarships are available for "Wetlands and Maritime Forest," which is scheduled April 26-28 at the USM-Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

Scholarships are also available for "Beach and Barrier Island," which is set for May 3-5 at MEC&A.

In April, Cousins and Gemelli will be honored during the Education Celebration of the MEC's Annual Membership Meeting in Jackson where the Mississippi Star Student and Star Teacher for the 1994-95 school year will be announced.

Also the scholarship awards funded by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian and Sanderson Farms Inc. of Laurel will be presented to the state's All-Stars, the top 20 Star Students and Teachers.

Chris Smith from Pearlington participated in the 53rd annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA) held Feb. 26-March 1 in Orlando, Fla., at the Orange County Convention Center.

Smith worked with 35 other high school students, each representing a different state, as a member of the NRECA Youth Consulting Board (YCB).

The YCB members were detailed to annual meeting staff with a wide variety of functions, such as registration, exhibits and videotaping.

Additionally, the YCB members set up and ran a general information booth to assist the more than 11,000 annual meeting delegates from 46 states.

They also participated in educational seminars and attended general sessions and forum discussions.

YCB members are chosen by their state delegations from nearly 1,200 young people representing 38 states who participated in the "Rural Electric Youth Tour" activities sponsored by NRECA in Washington, D.C. in June each year.

Smith was sponsored by Coast Electric Power Association in Bay St. Louis.

Lizana named achievement finalist

Erica Lizana, Our Lady Academy senior, named semifinalist in the 1995 National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students last October, has advanced to the finalist category, according to Sally Harrison, guidance counselor.

The Achievement Program is a privately financed competition for Black Americans conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

As a finalist, Lizana received a certificate of achievement and is now eligible for achievement scholarship awards worth about $3 million, to be offered to outstanding black students this spring.

Also this month, Lizana was named a finalist in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program.

She is an Alpha Honor Roll student, secretary of the National Honor Society, captain of the Math/Science Team, and president of OLA's Environmental Club. She is also a member of Campus Ministry, the Student Ministry Team and SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving).

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lizana from DeLisle, Lizana is a lector and a member of the choir at St. Stephen Church and vice-president of her parish CYO.

OLA Students of the Month

Get your boat ready for spring

The boating season always begins with spring commissioning chores that make the rest of the season more enjoyable — and safer. Here's a handy checklist from 505,000-member BOAT/U.S. (Boat Owners Association of The United States), the nation's largest organization of recreational boaters.

— Check the dates on safety gear such as flares and fire extinguishers.

— Make sure navigational charts and guides are current. Channel markers, buoys and landmarks change.

— Check all lights on the boat and trailer.

— Review your boat insurance policy and update coverage if needed.

— Check the first aid kit and tool kit and add fresh supplies.

— Check to see that through-hull fittings below the water line are tight and free of cracks and that sea valves operate freely.

— Sail boat owners should check the rigging for cracked or over-stressed fittings and chainplate mountings and leaks where chainplates come through the deck.

— Engine oil that looks brown or gray or has water in it, a mechanic should be called in to find the source.

— Inspect non-metallic thru-hulls on bilge pumps, sink and deck drains. They get brittle with age, and winter ice can crack or loosen them. Look for hoses that have been forced off or split from freezing. Every spring, boats sink at the dock when these problems go undetected until the first heavy rain.

— Get fresh batteries for flashlights, hand-held radios and other portable electronic gear.

— If your boat is less than 16 feet, make sure you have a wearable life jacket on board for each passenger. As of May 1, a throwable cushion or ring will no longer meet Coast Guard carriage requirements for boats under 16 feet.

— Check the first aid kit and tool kit and add fresh supplies.

— Check to see that through-hull fittings below the water line are tight and free of cracks and that sea valves operate freely.

— Sail boat owners should check the rigging for cracked or

State record catfish caught

Meridian resident Lawrence Hill has found a place in the record books by landing Mississippi's largest channel catfish.

The 17-year-old fish, which weighed a whopping 48 pounds, 7 ounces, is a state record and a new world line class record.

Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks (MDWFP) biologists say the fish is the third largest channel catfish in the world and the largest channel catfish ever caught on a 12-pound test line.

The fish, which eclipses the old state record by almost 3 pounds, was caught at Lake Tom Baily in Meridian.

"Our biologists work really hard to manage Lake Tom Baily for catfish, so I'm really glad to see that hard work pays off," said Ron Garavelli, MDWFP chief of fisheries.

The previous state record channel cat also came from the lake, so we believe it's feasible a world record could come from there as well."

Using golden shiners for bait, Hill caught the record cat on a Shakespeare 6-foot medium action rod and a Shakespeare spinning reel.

Lady Cats bow out of nationals

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

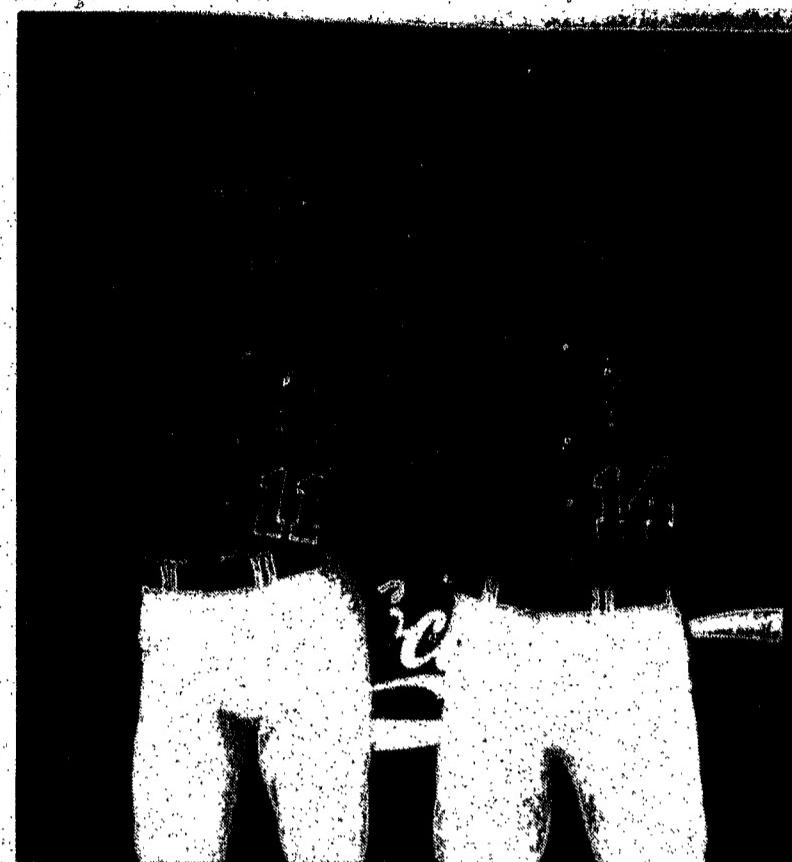

The Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcats won their first game in the women's NJCAA National Basketball Championship tournament.

The Lady Cats cruised past Western Nebraska 66-56 last Wednesday in their first round game. They advanced to the quarterfinals of the tourney. All-America forward Elaine Powell canned in 36 points in the contest. Powell is the nation's leading scorer with a 31.3 points per game average.

Last Thursday, the Lady Cats faced the No. 1 ranked Westark Lady Lions and were defeated 117-78.

Westark led at the half 60-33. Elaine Powell was held to only 9 points in the first half but finished with a game high 31 points.

Ricks, of Idaho, was the Lady Cats' opposition in the consolation round. Ricks defeated the Lady Cats 91-74. Elaine Powell once again led the Lady Cats with a game high 33 points. Pearl River closes out its season at 26-8. They also made history by becoming the first PRCC women's team to make the nationals.

SCC Players of the Week

St. Stanislaus baseball Players of the Week for Feb. 25-March 4 were junior Jeremy Penton (left) and senior Ben Williams. Penton was 4-11 with two doubles in three games. Williams pitched nine innings in two games, striking out 10 and earning a save. (SCC photo)

Rocks split with George County

Dorgan pitches shutout, Gex hits game winner

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws split a double-header with the George County Rebels here in Bay St. Louis on Saturday, March 18.

The George County Rebels defeated the Rocks 8-5 in the first game, and the Rocks battled back to win the second game 2-0.

The Rebels jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the top of the third inning coming off two SSC errors. The Rocks put themselves back into the game in the third with an RBI double by Casey Swanson and an RBI single by Trevor Speed.

However, in the fourth the Rebels exploded with four runs coming off a costly error by the Rocks.

The Rocks battled back again in the bottom of the fifth with a three run output. Trevor Speed started things off with a RBI double followed by Jeremy Penton who hit an RBI single. Correy Gex finished the run output with a sacrifice fly that tallied an RBI for the Rocks.

Trevor Speed went 3 for 4 in the first game with 2 RBIs. Jeremy Penton and Casey Swanson each went 1 for 3 with an RBI, while Correy Gex hit 1 for 2 with an RBI.

Correy Gex went 2 for 3 and 2 RBIs in the game.

Coach Stace McRaney stated, "We made some very costly errors in the first game. However, even though we made the mistakes we were always in a position to win the game. In the second game we received some solid pitching from Billy Dorgan and excellent defense. If we can cut down on our mistakes, the rest will take care of itself."

The Rocks now stand at 5-5 on the season.
